

Animal and Poultry Waste Management Center

Contact Us

Waste Processing Facility

Animal Poultry Waste Management Center

The Challenge

Animal agriculture in the United States and many parts of the world faces a challenge. If producers are to prosper, they must employ methods of managing the by-products they generate -- the manure, litter, mortalities, hatchery and processing plant offal, and wastewater -- that are at the same time environmentally sound, socially acceptable and economically feasible.

The Animal and Poultry Waste Management Center at North Carolina State University was established to answer this challenge.

NC STATE UNIVERSITY

Animal & Poultry Waste
Management Center
Annual Reports

November 2003 (pdf)

November 2004 (pdf)

December 2005 (pdf)

Environmentally Superior
Technologies Evaluated per Agreements Between the N.C. Attorney General,
Smithfield Foods,
Premium Standard Farms,
and Frontline Farmers

Presentations

